COMOX VALLEY UNITED
SOCCER CLUB

Inter-Club Transfers

Campbell River Youth Soccer Association and the Comox Valley United Soccer Club have a long history of cooperation in developing and providing soccer programs to the youth of our communities.

Our clubs work together to provide coach training, player and program development, in order for our players to have the opportunity to access the best programs available in benefit of their development and ultimately, improving our clubs.

An important aspect of maintaining strong programs in each community is maximizing the number of active players in each age group and program. Our clubs have an agreement that players will play within their club boundary to maintain player numbers, program strength and to avoid the displacement of a player from an opportunity within their home club.

Where a club is unable to offer a program, then our clubs work together to create a regional team (program), which ensures all players have an opportunity to play and develop their skills.

Programs provided within each club, combined with Upper Island Soccer Association Programs (UISA) and opportunities presented for players through soccer academy programs, provide a rich environment for development of players within the North Island.
